Shipp Proclaimed Chancellor; Eight Administrators Appointed

Nine staff members were promoted to high-ranking administrative posts by the LSU Board of Supervisors. Promotions were effective July 1.

Dr. Donald E. Shipp has become chancellor as the school begins the junior year this fall in changing from two-year to four-year status.

Dr. Kenneth Purdy, assistant dean for student affairs, was named director of student affairs.

neth R. Grubbs from chairman of the business administration department to dean of the college of business administration; Dr. Bobby Tabarlet from chairman of the education and psychology department to dean of the college of education; Dr. Mary McBride from associate professor of

Protocol and Alcohol

SGA Constitution Undergoing Revision

Revision of the Student Government Association's constitution should be completed this fall, according to Bill Malone, SGA president.

Efforts are being made to create an amendment procedure which will abolish the present method requiring a two-thirds vote of the student body, Malone said.

Part-Time Representative

Still in the developmental stage is a project to create senate representation for part-time students who presently are not allowed to serve in any official capacity at the university.

Also being researched is the possibility of alcoholic beverage consumption on campus. According to Malone, every college within the LSU system, with the exception of LSUS, permits consumption of alcoholic beverages on campus, "but the students should make the choice."

Mascot Needed

Suggestions for a mascot to symbolize the university have been narrowed down to "Eagles" and "Pilots." The final choice will be subject to vote by the student body.

This year's budget for the Student Government Association shows an approximate 200 per cent increase over last year's $4,800 budget thanks to the senate and Chancellor Shipp. The new budget is equal to that of other state colleges," Malone said.

Fun Forthcoming

Approximately $10,000 of the amount has been allotted to student activities as compared to the $2,800 of last year.

To lead the roster of special presentations for fall will be the movies "Mash," "In Cold Blood" and "The French Connection" presented respectively on Sept. 7, 14 and 21, according to Tony Sanders, SGA vice president.

For those interested in running for the SGA senate offices, Malone said, filing dates will soon be announced and elections will be held in September. To meet the requirements for holding an office on campus, one must be a full-time student and have a cumulative grade point average of not less than 2.0.

According to Malone, this year's SGA will spend more time governing on "activities that directly affect students" than on points that merely affect the SGA internally.

Group Wants 'Warm Bodies'

A student activities committee has been organized to provide varied activities for students at LSUS, according to Larry Hilton, committee director.

Dances, weekend films, a beauty pageant and other activities are programmed for the coming year, Hilton said, and "a few warm bodies" are still needed to work on the Dance and Beauty Pageant committees.

Students with a sincere desire to do something for the student body may apply in LA room 124, Hilton said.

Artists and Lecturers Committee Plans Art, Music and Dramatic Performances For Fall Semester

The Artists and Lecturers Committee has announced a tentative fall schedule of guest speakers and performers, according to committee chairman Jim Miller, assistant professor of history.

Between September 11 and December 3, seven concerts and performances will be presented in the Science Lecture Auditorium.

On September 11, Harold Elias will present two demonstrations on art at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Elias, a painter of mixed mediums, has exhibited at the Art Institute of Chicago, the Baltimore Museum of Art, the Denver Art Museum and others.

Martin on Evangelism

Dr. William Martin, associate professor of sociology at Rice University in Houston, will lecture on radio evangelism on September 25 at 1 p.m. Dr. Martin attended Abilene Christian College and received his Ph.D. from Harvard.

Ms. Lucy Layman, a Shreveporter and member of the National Organization of Women (NOW), will speak about the Equal Rights Amendment on October 10 at 11 a.m.

Calve, Recording Artist

Pierre Calve, singer and guitarist, will present a musical concert on October 25 at 10 a.m. Born in Montreal, Calve joined the Merchant Marines at 16. He made his first public appearance as a singer in 1961 and has released three albums on Columbia records.

On November 13 at 2 p.m., Chick and Anne Hebert will present Synesthesia, a multi-media concert. Hebert studied engineering and music at University of California at Santa Barbara and currently teaches photographic art and multimedia composition through University of California Extension and Adult Education.

Mrs. Hebert studied botany and art at U.C.S.B. and presently teaches multimedia dance workshops, including her own dance company, Kinetecology, studying movement within environments created for dancers.

Songs of Dylan, Mitchell, Taylor

David Baumgarten, folksinger, will sing on November 28 at 2 p.m. Baumgarten, a graduate of the University of Redlands, Redlands, California, has sung with the Roger Wagner Chorale and appeared on the Bell Telephone Hour. His songs range from the sea chants of New England to works of Bob Dylan, Joni Mitchell and James Taylor.

An Australian actor, Rob Inglis, will present a one-man dramatic reading of Geoffrey Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales" on December 3 at 1 p.m.

His roles include Falstaff and the Ghost in "Hamlet," and King of France in "Henry V."

Governor Names Kemp To Post

Governor Edwin W. Edwards has appointed Dr. George A. Kemp, associate professor of psychology, to a three-year term as a member of the State Board of Examiners of Psychologists. As required by law a list of nominees is submitted to the governor by the Louisiana Psychological Association from which appointments are made and commissions given.

The board administers examinations, grants and revokes licenses, and generally supervises the ethical and professional practices of psychologists in Louisiana.

Kemp is past president of both the Louisiana Psychological Association and the Louisiana Academy of Sciences. He formerly served as a member of the Council of One Hundred, the governing body of the American Psychological Association and presently serves that body as a member of the Board of Convention Affairs.

He is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Phi Delta Kappa, and is a Fellow of the Kansas Psychological Association. He has practiced psychology since 1957 in Texas, Kansas and Louisiana.

J. W. Hall Accepts New Command

Dr. John W. Hall, associate professor of geography, has been promoted to chairman of the social sciences department.

The appointment was effective July 1, according to Dr. Donald E. Shipp, Chancellor.

Dr. Hall holds a Ph.D. degree in cultural geography from LSU-Baton Rouge where he was a teaching assistant and a visiting instructor. From 1967-68 he held an LSU Graduate School Fellowship for dissertation research.

Dr. Hall earned a B.S. degree in geology in 1956 from the University of Southwestern Louisiana and an M.A. degree in geography in 1963 from Southern Illinois University where he was a research and teaching assistant.

A native of Lafayette, he served three years with U.S. Army Security Agency and was a geography instructor at USL from 1963-66.

Ex-POW Thanks Coed For Wearing Bracelet

By RENEE DOWNS

What do you do on a lazy summer Saturday afternoon? If you're a female you probably spend it shopping . . . until you realize your job beckons, that is. And, after madly rushing home you may, if you're lucky, find a mysterious looking envelope awaiting you.

Mysterious until you tire of analyzing the handwriting and examine the return address for a clue. You then dash through the house shouting, "Hey, everybody, I got a letter from my POW!" And, if you're me, that's exactly what happened on the last day of June.

Gives Thanks

To be more precise the return address was the same name as on my POW bracelet, Capt. Richard Brenneman, and he is not mine (as Dr. Cloud would be the first to point out), nor is he any longer a POW. Score two for him!

Wildly tearing at the envelope I noticed the words "thank you" standing out. Here was someone who had spent nearly 5½ years as a prisoner in Vietnam, someone who could have been killed defending America, and he was thanking me and wishing me happiness. The happiness Brenneman expressed echoed in his words, "I plan to enjoy life to the fullest."

Pie In The Sky

On March 16 Brenneman returned to the United States, and on June 30 I received a letter bearing an Alabama postmark as he proceeded to a Florida vacation. By the time I caught up with him, on July 26, Brenneman was on Waikiki Beach soaking up the Hawaiian sun.

Several fruitless attempts revealed that as early as 7:30 a.m. (Hawaii) Brenneman was either gone again or not yet returned from his previous evening's activities! One wonders if he isn't pursuing the social life he enjoyed in college!

Someone once said you should enjoy what you do and Brenneman certainly seems to be at home "in the air, on the land and sea." He finds pleasure scuba diving, traveling and meeting people, but his true loves are apparently flying and sky-diving.

Girls probably rank second, however, for Brenneman likes "to date girls that are as crazy as I am." All of these seem to fit pretty well into one category, classifying Brenneman as adventurous!

Vital Statistics

The most frequent question among women (especially the single ones) is "Is he married?" followed by "How old is he?" in the same breath. Well, for those of you interested in the "vital statistics," here are a few.

Niles, Michigan, was the place and March 25, 1942 was the date of the birth of Richard Charles Brenneman. He is 5' 2" tall, has black hair and hazel eyes.

His parents reside in Mishawaka, Indiana, and other family members include a younger brother and sister.

'I Just Do My Job'

In high school he graduated tenth in his class of 315 and received a degree in biology with minors in chemistry, physics and math from Indiana University. He was second in his class and a distinguished military graduate from the Laughlin Air Force Base Pilot Training School.

Now a captain in the Air Force, Brenneman has received the following awards: Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal, Purple Heart, Presidential Unit Citation, National Defense Service Medal, two campaign medals and a marksmanship ribbon. In spite of his honors Brenneman is modest. "I don't put much stock in awards," he said. "I just do my job."

As A Fighter Pilot

Now that he's home, Brenneman will continue his Air Force career, this time as an instructor pilot at Williams AFB in Phoenix, Ariz. where he will "teach others to be basic fighter pilots."

Being a fighter pilot brought many new experiences to Brenneman. On Nov. 8, 1967, while flying his eleventh mission over Vietnam, he was shot down and captured.

For the next 5 years and 4 months a new world unfolded as Brenneman found himself in several prison camps, including the camp at Santé and the well-known "Hanoi Hilton," under the command of senior officer AF Brigadier General John P. Flynn.

Spirit of Togetherness

Upon his return, Flynn spoke for his fellow ex-prisoners. According to Flynn, the men knew of and appreciated American support through bumper stickers, buttons, bracelets, etc.

Brenneman feels that "participating in the bracelet program proves we Americans can always be together in spirit even when some of us find ourselves apart from our homeland." Brenneman's thoughts belong not only to him, but to every individual who wore a bracelet.

CAPT. RICHARD BRENNEMAN'S eyes shine with happiness as he enjoys his freedom after nearly 5½ years in several Vietnam prison camps.

Outside The Classroom

By MARY MIKA

Classroom extension is an idea of going beyond the four walls of a lecture room into what Eric Hoffer, noted philosopher, calls "involvement in the learning experience."

A program beneficial for every LSUS student and particularly pre-law, sociology, psychology, social studies and law enforcement majors is the Court Observers' Program sponsored by the Board of the Caddo-Bossier Drug Abuse Commission.

Series of Programs

Part of the training for prospective observers includes attending a series of programs held by the Board at the Convention Hall at specified times. Future programs are scheduled to be Tuesday, Sept. 18 at 3 p.m. and Oct. 9.

The third of a series was a presentation of a mock-trial involving a drug charge. Judge Rogers M. Prestidge, moderator, reminded the audience that the events which we were about to witness "is what a real trial is like as opposed to what you see on Perry Mason or Owen Marshall"

Although the trial was in condensed form, those unfamiliar with court proceedings were exposed to the organization of a trial from jury selection, presentation of evidence, arguments by both the state and defense to the end of the trial with the reading of the final verdict.

Women Upset

Many women were upset to find that unless they specially sign a request with the Clerk of Courts they will never be asked to serve on a jury. That is, unless as one woman expressed it, "We'll change that."

The Court Observers' Program is proof that you don't need momentous experiences to reach momentous conclusions. Community involvement, an imaginary classroom without walls, is a worthwhile learning experience.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS are getting a facelift this year as Donald Dino, asst. professor of health and physical education, chalks up another football field.

Intramurals Director Joins LSUS Staff

By TERRY HARGIS

The LSUS Physical Education Department will have a new and very active member this fall. He is Don Dino, director of intramural sports and HPE. Dino completed his undergraduate studies at Drake University and has been working toward his doctorate degree at Colorado and Boston Universities. He previously taught at the University of Wyoming for three years where he served as director of intramurals and assistant track coach.

Lucrative Fall Ahead

As previously stated Dino is a very active person. He belongs to the American Humanist Association, Phi Delta Kappa, American Educational Studies Association, is Vice-President of the Colorado State Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, and representative to the national chapter of this organization. He enjoys sports and working with people and feels that he has a very lucrative intramural program lined up for this year.

Aside from duties as director of intramurals Dino will be instructing classes in Conditioning Exercises, Officiating Techniques, Principles of and History of PE and Fencing. He has also planned to charter a HPE Club open to all students interested in PE.

Varied Interests

Dino's interests in sports range from paddleball to card playing, evidenced by the intramural program he has planned. He was the Fencing Master for the Colorado Shakespeare Festival. He also enjoys paddleball and badminton and is working to be certified by the Louisiana High School Athletic Association as a football referee. He is the founder of a program known as Movement Education which is a bilingual program utilizing movement as a medium for teaching foreign languages to children. With this program a 4½ month bilingual course was accomplished in six weeks at Otero Jr. College in Colorado and it is currently being considered by the National Education Association for use in colleges and public schools.

Bench Remarks

By TERRY HARGIS

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

The LSUS intramural sports program for the 1973-74 school year will get underway with women's softball, men's flag football and possibly women's basketball. Filing for teams must be done by Sept. 6 through Don Dino, director of intramural sports.

A New Format

A new format aimed at urging participation of university organizations will be put into effect this fall. A point system, awarding points on a participation basis has been devised. The group accumulating the most points by the end of the year will be awarded $100. Ten points will be given for flag football (7 members), nine for softball teams (9), and eight points for each of the following: volleyball, 8; bowling, 4; tennis singles and doubles; badminton singles and doubles; a spades team; archery and basketball, 5.

There will also be intramurals for individuals. Unsanctioned groups may field teams but will be ineligible for the $100 prize. As of now competition has not been determined but it is likely to be single and double eliminations, with individual and sanctioned teams competing for trophies and medallion awards.

Special Events Planned

Also on the agenda for sports this year will be several special events, including a golf tournament, student track meet, badminton, volleyball and tennis. Rounding out the season will be the LSUS Playday, tentatively scheduled for Oct. 5. Some of the events planned for the fun day are a tug-of-war, nailing contest, pass the peas, raisin-spearing contest, pie-throwing contest between students and faculty, sack races, three-legged race, tricycle races, bicycle races, grudge races, volleyball, balloon burst, egg-throwing contest and numerous other tests of skill.

Tentative dates for the activities are as follows. Monday and Thursdays at 5 p.m. men's flag football will meet by the science building while women's softball is in progress by the library. Bowling at Tebbe's will be the theme on Tuesday and Thursday evenings and an afternoon league will soon be underway. Basketball will probably be held at the Youree Dr. Jr. High School gym Tuesday evenings at 7 p.m. The basketball games will be followed by volleyball at 8.

Funky Follies Success

The summer semester introduced the Funky Follies Swim Meet, held at the Querbes Park pool. Twenty-five students participated in the events ranging from a sweatshirt relay to funkiest diving competition. All competitions, excluding the dive, were team events.

The sweatshirt relay was won by Madeline McGoldrich, Linda Pursley, Jim Fulco and Cathy Higginbotham with a time of 1:46. Liz Evans, Tony Sanders, Rose Thomas and Ed Molnar comprised the winning team in the rubber ball relay, 1:35, and the bread-on-water competition with 42 corks of 200. Capturing top honors in the three-legged relay with a fast 57 second timing was the team of Viola Smith, Neal Fulco, Carolyn Hill and George Leritte. The medley relay, consisting of the backstroke, sidestroke, underwater lap and dog paddle was won by the team of Rose Marie O'Reilly, Phil Roseman and Bridgette O'Reilly with the assistance of alternates Holly Griggs and Kim Purdy as they blazed to victory in a 1:27 time.

The funkiest dive was performed by Phil Roseman followed by Liz Evans.

Individual Winners

To The Liberated Woman

Are you fed up with hearing people say, "Oh, you can't do that, it's not ladylike to play flag football" or "Be careful, you must never beat the boys; you'll frighten them off?"

Isn't it about time you asserted yourself and said, "I can do anything, I am WOMAN?" Have you heard about the male chauvinist so-n-so in charge of Intramural sports? Why not join us Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 29, at 3:30 p.m. in the Liberal Arts Building, room 138, so we can tell him just what WE WANT.

M*A*S*H* Donald Sutherland, Elliott Gould, Tom Skerritt, Sally Kellerman. "If the Marx Brothers were all still around and an audacious scriptwriter had dressed them in white surgical uniforms and set them near the front in Korea during the war and told them to run amok, the results would have probably turned out something like this saucy, outrageous, irreverent film. Nothing is sacred: not medical surgery, chastity, womanhood, army discipline, the sanctity of marriage, war movies, or the great American institution of football. All these and more take a satirical shelling of the intense kind that warms the hearts of misanthropes." Richard Gere, Robert Altman superbly directed this ribald film that offers the song "Suicide is Painless" and outstanding performances by the entire cast. M*A*S*H! was awarded the Golden Palm at the Cannes Film Festival.
